

Multiplexed Immunoassay Technologies for the Detection of Clinical Biomarkers
Fizal Nabbie, Bristol-Myers Squibb

The application of immunoassay technologies including bead array and electrochemiluminescence based analysis provide improved assay sensitivity and enhanced dynamic range. A comparison of these technologies and examples of their application to measure clinical biomarkers will be presented.